Original Research: A Call for Papers

Herbert G. Garrison, MD, MPH
Scientific Editor, North Carolina Medical Journal

North Carolina is blessed with some of the finest medical research institutions in the world. The work of the medical scientists that labor in our research facilities becomes complete (in many ways) and public when it is published in peer-reviewed journals.

While medical researchers in North Carolina have many journals to which they can submit their manuscripts, we want them to consider keeping their work here at home. To be more specific, we invite the authors of our state to submit their papers to the North Carolina Medical Journal.

The Journal seeks papers that convey the results of original research. We are especially interested in publishing research papers that have relevance to the health of the people of our state.

An editor reviews all papers received and those of sufficient quality are peer-reviewed. As with any journal of merit, only papers of high quality will be published. Papers printed in the Journal are indexed in the National Library of Medicine's MEDLINE public database.

The North Carolina Medical Journal is published six times a year. It is distributed free of charge to the members of the North Carolina Medical Society, the North Carolina Hospital Association, the North Carolina College of Internal Medicine, the North Carolina Academy of Physician Assistants, and the Medical Review of North Carolina. The Journal is available by subscription to others.

For guidance on manuscript preparation, authors should consult the "Author Guidelines," which can be found at www.ncmedicaljournal.com.
