The staff of the North Carolina Medical Journal would like to express our immense gratitude for the professional design services Angie Dickinson Design has shared with us since 2003.

Besides her artistic ability, technical skills, and professional manner, Ms. Dickinson courteously addresses any print need we have, large or small. She works hard to capture and present our message our way.

We feel fortunate to have her firm working with us, and we attribute much of our success to her dedication, flexibility, and sophisticated understanding of printed material. Thanks to Angie Dickinson Design, we are able to produce high quality Journals and reports that we proudly send to more than 30,000 people every other month.
